COVER

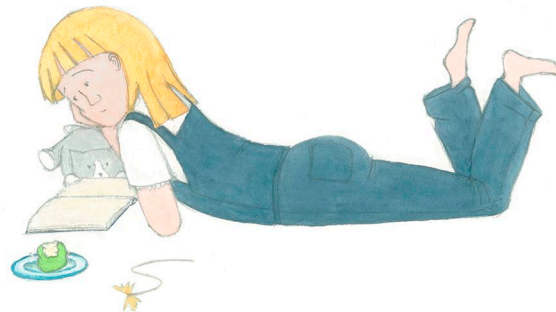

ILLUSTRATIONS

Eva loves her kitten. The kitten is a toy, but this doesn't mean that he's not alive. The kitten is a real friend.

Eva feeds him, puts him to bed, takes him everywhere and never leaves him.

ILLUSTRATIONS

Eva is inconsolable. Mom and Dad comfort her. They offer to get a new kitten. But how is it possible?! To replace a friend!? The one and only! The very best!

ILLUSTRATIONS

Eva imagines her kitten lying somewhere alone, abandoned, forgotten by everyone. How sad he is that no one needs him. He doesn't even know how much Eva wants to find him! How she regrets letting him go, not checking once more that he was safely hidden in the backpack. If only she could get him back!

ILLUSTRATIONS

So days, weeks, months pass.. One day, Eva is walking in the park. It has just rained and the park is empty. Eva notices something white on the bench. A bunny. The fur is completely wet and dirty. The bunny is sad and lonely.

ABOUT AN AUTHOR

Hello! My name is Maria Greynis. I am a freelance illustrator based in France. I create illustrations for picture books.

The Loss is my second personal book project, based on a true story of my daughter Eva and her little plush friend.
